

SAUNTERINGS

From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

TODAY is the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States. On this date, 191 years ago, Jefferson was born at Shadwell, Va., of Welsh ancestry, Christian faith, and a lawyer by profession. He became president at the age of 57 years. Served two terms of office—1801-1809. Jefferson died in 1826 at the ripe age of 83 years. He was buried at Monticello, Va.

Among the outstanding events occurring during the Jefferson administration was the purchase of Louisiana from France, and war with Tripoli.

IN CASE you're superstitious, here's a tip—this is Friday the 13th. Besides the conventional warnings to avoid black cats, broken mirrors, walking under ladders, and lighting three cigarettes from the same match on this precarious day, we add the following:

Don't argue with the boss. Don't buy gold bricks, nor interest in an ice cream factory to be located at the North Pole. And don't dare get sassy should a motor cop hail you to the curb with questions about fire or race tracks. Just smile—keeping your fingers crossed. Should you get through the day without being fired, crowned to, touched for a loan, or challenged to a fight by Senator Huey Long, your worries are over until the month of July. That's the last time a 13 appears in the Friday column during 1934.

ALLEN, the darkly elevated boy is taking no chances with the greegree during depression Friday 13th. He has discarded a cotton tail rabbit's left hind foot for that of a jack rabbit. "De jack's foot am bigger. I fingers hit do heap more good against boggies 'n other one," is Allen's personal philosophy.

JOKE writers who poke fun at some modern druggists for serving luncheons, handling haberdashery, hardware, and every other line of merchandise except drugs might sharpen their wits at the expense of a large downtown San Antonio drug store. During Easter week, the sidewalks outside this store resembled a miniature menagerie, with engaged array of pets offered for sale.

Live rabbits, dyed in various tints of the rainbow, cunning little pigs, squealing above the roar of traffic, geese, fretting mother hens with broods of fluffy, peeping biddies, pigeons, cunning puppies, guinea pigs, white rats and mice, and, to complete the collection, a pair of bleating goats. The druggist reported sales for all his unique Easter pets. The goats were the last to be purchased.

BONNIE Parker, red-haired, gun-moll of Clyde Barrow, notorious outlaw and killer operating in the west, complains that newspaper writers have her all wrong. "She doesn't like smoking cigars," she says. "But she has a habit of smoking cigars—bad—smoking gets, and machine guns."

FLASH!—Hold the press—here's a scoop. They're trying to bring back that crazy, tiresome, apish game of dangle a top up and down a string. Yo-yoing it was called. Remember? Back there in the midwest golf course area it flourished. Made fools out of most of us from dignified Aunt Het to Grandpa Plunkpkins, who should have known better. First indication of the diabolical plot to resurrect this time-wasting farce came to light in a help wanted ad desiring expert Philippine yo-yo artists. Next day they were demonstrating in downtown show windows—while a crowd of curious looked on. From the gleam of interest in their eyes—we fear the worst—another plague of yo-yoing.

WHAT would you do if you ran out of gas in a strange neighborhood, without a car in your jeans, or hand bag as the case may be? Borrow or beg? That's one way out. But a San Antonio matron, caught in the above fix, figured it out on a higher scale. If the service station attendant could trust her for a gallon of gas worth 16 cents, then she in turn would place her four and a half carat diamond ring, valued at $1800, in his possession until she returned with the 16 cents. When she called next day to redeem her costly security, the attendant refused to return the ring. Later, two detectives and lady's husband convinced him that the price of the gasoline was 16 cents—not $1800.

"UNCLE BILL" Miller, ex-Texas ranger, relays word that eating rattlesnake meat is nothing new. During his eventful career in service along the Rio Grande, "Uncle Bill" has known many rattlesnake eaters among Mexican peons.

Usually, the party who feasted on this less popular food, sat apart from the rest of the party during meal time, the ranger informs. Armadillos are likewise used for food by Mexican ranch hands.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF FEDERATED MUSIC CLUBS, HATTIESBURG

Program Two-Day Session; Bay St. Louis Represented—Given Good Rating

The Mississippi Federation of Music Clubs held its annual convention at the Forrest Hotel, in Hattiesburg, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 5th to 7th, with a registration of about one hundred and forty members and delegates.

A great deal of business and some new legislation was transacted at the board meeting on Thursday with a formal reception that evening, given by Dr. George, President of the State Teachers College, and his wife, for the board members and visiting delegates. The reception, which climaxed a lovely evening, was preceded by a concert by Nelson Eddy, nationally famous baritone who appeared on the Radio Artists' course of the college.

On Friday the meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Hughes Sample, the retiring president, presiding. At this meeting club reports and reports of ratings, chairmen were given.

The report from the "Schubert Music Club" showed a rating of 67½ per cent which is the best showing made in its eight years of existence.

The order of business was interspersed with wonderful music, some of which were original compositions by club members and sung by the federated clubs.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. A. H. Polk entertained the officers and delegates at her home. That night a concert production of Samson and Delilah was given in the auditorium of State Teachers College.

The Schubert Music Club, for four years has numbered in its membership several state officers and one International officer. Its members are justly proud of this distinction.

Mrs. Rea asked to be relieved of these duties and Mrs. H. E. Rogers succeeds her as State vice president.

The result of the election showed Mrs. D. C. Lee of Hattiesburg president of the State Federation for the ensuing year.

Rev. Father R. J. Sorin Had Fine Schedule of Speakers During Lent

The Church of Our Lady of Good Hope, at DeLisle, of which Rev. Father R. J. Sorin, is pastor, conducted a most active and successful Lenten season of devotional exercises, during which period several visiting priests by invitation occupied the pulpit. The result was that the good parishioners of that place enjoyed an advantage seldom enjoyed elsewhere. The speakers carried out a program which is unusual, especially for so small a church and parish, which all reflects to the credit of Father Sorin who enjoys a wide acquaintance among the clergy and better still enjoys their personal friendship and general good will.

Rev. Father Hager, C. M., was the first speaker for February 26, but ill was unable to fill his engagement. However, at Cuevas, a mission church, March 6, he delivered a discourse, "I am the way of truth and life."

February 27 Rev. Father Spengler, pastor of St. John Church, at Gulfport, delivered at DeLisle a special sermon on "Heaven."

Father Sweeney, S. S. J., delivered sermons at DeLisle and at Cuevas churches.

Father Leo Fahey, of Bay St. Louis, delivered a sermon at DeLisle on the "Holy Sacrifice of the Mass." And Father Moran, also of the Bay delivered a Lenten discourse on "The Passion of Our Lord."

Very Rev. Father Heffels, S. V. D., was a Thursday night speaker, the subject of his sermon, "Holy Eucharist."

Father Sorin not only feels complimented in having this array of splendid speakers fill his pulpit during the season, but is grateful and thankful. He says:

"These were greatly and thankfully appreciated each night by a large congregation and no doubt the results are the word of God penetrated deeper and deeper into the hearts of the hearers and brought them nearer and nearer to God."

EVER WELCOME SEWING CIRCLE MET MONDAY EVE.

Mrs. M. Middleton and David Middleton were hostesses to the Ever Welcome Sewing Circle Monday evening. Those present were: Mesdames Speer, Barker, Scharff, Shaw, Dickson, E. Witter and Miss Vanda Mae Middleton.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Koch on Carroll avenue.

BAY HIGH SCHOOL SCORES HIGH IN REGIONAL CONTEST

Wins Debating Schedule—Makes Fine Showing in Literary and Athletic Meet.

The school board and faculty were very much satisfied that the students of Bay Hi made such a fine showing in the Gulf Coast Regional literary and athletic meet, held in Gulfport and Biloxi. Pascagoula won the entire meet, while Bay Hi compiled a total of 87½ points to cop fifth honors.

The school officials are more than glad that out of the total 87½ points, 68 were made in the literary and platform events. Bay Hi won third place in the literary events, but their total of 68 points in literary and platform contests amounted to more than any school in the Region. After all, not winning the entire meet, the local school showed up many schools in the mental side of the meet, the purpose for which the school was really established.

The following are the events and pupils name winning place: Latin 11—(no contestant); Latin 1 (no contestant); World History—David Griffith fourth; American History—G. O. Kerr, first; Advanced Civics—Jerry Dickson, fourth; Bookkeeping—Austin Baxter, first; Typing—Saucier (no place); Home Economics (no contestant); Biology—Fred Wright, first; Chemistry—Georgia Givens, second; General Science—Mark Smith, fourth; Plane Geometry—Coraline Ballard, first; Advanced Arithmetic—C. This exhibit will be under the direct supervision of Mrs. J. L. Flurry of Gulfport, who, for the past two weeks, has been giving instructions in this novel art, to the ladies of Hancock county. Mrs. Flurry reports that interest has been keen; aptitude on the part of her students amazing. However, these ladies want everyone to see for themselves these "miracles of the pine straw."

Some ten or fifteen ladies have attended these classes and the pieces they have turned out will comprise the exhibit to which everyone is urged to come.

Bay St. Louis public will be given an opportunity this Friday evening, 8 o'clock, at St. Joseph's Gym Auditorium to witness a 3-act comedy, entitled "Three Pigs" by Seniors and Juniors.

The cast was carefully selected and is well nigh perfect in its production. ### WAVELAND REJECTS ALL BIDS

Board Mayor and Aldermen Tie On Adoption of Type.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Town of Waveland, of its regular session on Tuesday night of last week, all bids for paving approximately two miles of streets, were rejected.

It was a matter of opinion as to which was the best type of paving, "since there were bids submitted for black top and concrete." The advertisement inviting bids did not specifically state which type was wanted.

The matter, in the absence of Dr. J. C. Buckley, alderman, who was ill at home, was voted and resulted in a tie.

It is not stated whether new bids will be invited. The matter, at this writing, remains in statu quo. At a future meeting of the Board the matter will possibly be re-opened.

Since the above was put into type Waveland town board met and voted to readvertise for bids, as per notice in another column, to be received Friday, May 4.

FAMOUS GENTRY BROS. DOG AND PONY SHOW HERE THIS SATURDAY

Two Performances—Matinee 2 o'clock—Night at Eight o'clock.

For the first time in eighteen years the real, old, original Gentry Brothers trained animals shows are coming to Bay St. Louis. Then the children will realize the wonderful tales they heard of trained animals are not merely bedtime stories. They will see and enjoy the actors in real life. Also they will see several clever acrobatic and wire walking acts presented by human performers.

The Shows Saturday, April 14, come under auspices of the St. Stanislaus Parents Club and will be presented on the stadium grounds. For this engagement the price of admission is reduced to twenty five cents for everyone. School children, however, who bring with them one of the identification cards issued free at the schools, will be admitted for fifteen cents each.

There will be two performances here Saturday. The matinee is at two o'clock and the night performance is at eight o'clock. Many have asked if these are the original Gentry shows. They are. They were established in 1889 by Henry B. Gentry, and he today is commander in chief of their destinies on the road.

The performance introduces nearly one hundred highly educated acting dogs, ponies and monkeys, besides the added attractions of human performers. Friday, the day before the matinee at Gulfport will be presented at three fifteen o'clock, instead of at two o'clock, as in Bay St. Louis. However, the night performance in both cities will be at the usual time, eight o'clock.

TWELVE BILLS BY RECENT LEGISLATURE CONSIDERED THE BEST

Out of 684 Bills Passed Leaders Select Most Important of Session.

House and Senate leaders selected the following 12 pieces of legislation from the 684 bills enacted as the most important of the 18-week session:

1. Reorganization of the state banking department. The old department was abolished and a new division of bank supervision established under direction of a comptroller. The present superintendent of banks J. S. Love will remain as superintendent until January 1, 1935, at which time he will be replaced by a comptroller named by the governor.

2. Legalization of four per cent beer and wines by weight and enactment of a bill authorizing sale of hard liquor through county-controlled liquor stores, subject to ratification by the people at a special election July 10.

3. Loosening of tax requirements for participation in primary elections. The only tax requirement for voting in primaries under the new law is payment of poll taxes. The legislature also adopted a constitutional amendment to make the same requirement applicable to general elections, which will be submitted to the voters next fall.

4. Exemption from state ad valorem taxes homesteads up to $1,000 and 40 acres.

5. Reorganization of the administrative division of the penal system through abolition of the board of trustees and creation of a board of commissioners with greatly curtailed authority. The prison manager, who was appointed by the trustees, is replaced by a superintendent who is in complete charge of operating the penitentiary and is appointed by and solely responsible to the governor.

6. A two-year mortgage moratorium, extending to harassed property owners the right to halt foreclosure proceedings by obtaining a chancery court injunction without posting bond.

7. A $24,200,000 balanced budget made possible through refunding $1,000,000 worth of state bonds maturing during the biennium and "cushioned" with a $1,500,000 short term note issue to be sold only in event of a deficit.

8. Extension one year of the time allotted for redeeming tax-forfeited property.

9. Re-enactment of the installment plan for paying ad valorem taxes as a permanent policy of the state. Fifty per cent can be paid February 1, 25 per cent May 1, and the remainder August 1.

10. Abolishment of boards of trustees of 11 state eleemosynary institutions and establishments of a super-board of five members appointed by the governor, which will administer for all.

11. A 30 per cent reduction in the price of automobile license tags effective December 1, 1934.

12. A group of acts enabling counties and municipalities to avail themselves of the advantages of the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Public Works Administration.

Citizens Petition City Commissioners to Restore Bus to Beach

A petition numerously signed will be presented Monday morning to the Board of Mayor and City Commissioners, asking that the bus line of travel be restored back to the beach route, as formerly.

An ordinance some months ago denying this privilege since the tonnage prohibited included busses used by the Teache Transfer Company.

The familiar sight of the bus is missed from the beach front and its present detour through the piney woods deprives the city of advantages in more ways than one, to say nothing of convenience and pleasure to passengers.

The Echo wishes to go on record as favoring the bus line operating along the beach front and hopes the city council, in its wisdom, will see fit to grant the petition. In this modern age and for a city and section of this size and importance we cannot do the things that are provincial. On the contrary, travel and traffic should be encouraged in order we may attain a greater animated city and draw more people to our midst.

DISCARDING POISON PLOT THEORIES AFTER INVESTIGATION AND A VERDICT OF SUICIDE MONDAY BY A CORONER'S JURY. Sheriff T. Ed. Kellar and deputies gave every attention in attempt to identify a one-armed man who was found dead in his room in the annex of the The Answer family hotel, Union street.

The man came to the hotel at 10:30 o'clock P. M., paying for the room in advance. Mrs. Abigail Bourgeois, proprietress, told the authorities. She said he failed to register and owing to the lateness of the hour she thought nothing more of the guest.

However, when he failed to appear Monday morning and by noon, she had her son, W. L. Bourgeois, Jr., to peer into the room through the transom and see if the man had gone. It was plainly visible the man was dead. He was lying on his back, his hand to his chest and a trickle of blood from the side of the mouth was plainly marked. Officers were called and the matter made known and opened to investigation.

A whiskey flask, nearly emptied, and two small bottles of strichnine one partially empty was found in the room, officers said. Suspecting at first that the man might have been the victim of a poison plot that had been going on in New Orleans, officers started an investigation.

The coroner's inquest was held Monday afternoon, conducted by Justice of the Peace Leon B. Capdepont.

The man's left arm is missing. He apparently was about 50 years old, said officers, slightly over five feet tall, and had brown hair and brown eyes. He was dressed in blue overalls. There was $19.31 in a purse found under his pillow, but no marks of identification, officers said.

Fahey Undertaking establishment took the body in charge and after embalming it, prepared it for burial. It was held until Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, awaiting possible identification. Every effort in this direction having failed, the funeral took place from the Fahey establishment, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Robt. E. Gubb, rector the religious ceremony. Interment was at Cedar Rest Cemetery.

Turcotte.

The absence of Mrs. Kate Conner was noted with more than ordinary regret since her absence was caused by illness. She was the first birthday party she had ever missed. This was the 23rd. Mrs. Conner is one of the pioneer members.

The regular monthly meeting was held April 5, at Mrs. Conner's residence. Various subjects of interest were discussed during the business session.

Attention of every member is called to the initiation exercises to be held May 3, 7:30 P. M., second floor Masonic bldg. A social hour will be held following the ceremony.

PILGRIMAGES TO NATCHEZ.

THOUSANDS of people from over the country formed a great pilgrimage to Natchez, —the land of other days. Where wealth, beauty and chivalry held full sway and where the scions of great names still live in the dim memory of the glory of it all.

These traditions, call them that if you will. Men and women, who bear proud names and who live in great ancestral homes, wisteria-covered and others rose-embowered, as if to hide the seams of time, still bask in this atmosphere of charm born of other years. They yield neither to time nor conditions. The memory of their ancestry never dies. In fact, it carries down thru direct lines of generations and each is proud to proclaim their birth.

It is to this land of yesterday that thousands formed a pilgrimage last week. The ancestral halls still remain. It was in these stately homes with their cultural atmosphere that many scenes were re-enacted. One night a ball representing the dress of yesterday. From the ceiling of the ballroom suspended a great chandelier of crystals scintillating in the light of innumerable lighted candles. There was the stately manner of the chivalrous gentleman, the graciousness of the belle of long ago. Another evening witnessed the charm of a southern reception, another afternoon the setting of a tea party where milady with all the artistry of a true hostess held her guests as if time were fleet-footed. And again the diversions of social charm and manner were again enacted in different phases of ante-bellum days.

The past is precious. It never returns. We can only live it over in that manner presented during Pilgrimage Week to Natchez. This program is enacted each year under auspices of the Natchez Garden Club. It was first of local interest, subsequently of natural state-wide recognition until now many States are represented. San Antonio its annual fiesta celebrating the battle of San Jacinto, New Orleans its Carnival, Mobile its azalea trail, Asheville its Rhododendron festival and Natchez its Pilgrimage Week. It is noted that each succeeding year the pilgrimage is augmented in individual number and this year was no exception. States from New York down and extending the mid-west were represented. We are glad to note Bay St. sent forth its pilgrims. They returned imbued with the spirit of not only of the grandeur and charm of other days but inspired to a point of emulation.

Let us continue and encourage our trail celebrations, fiestas, carnivals, pilgrimages and whatnot. They regenerate the past into living, breathing things and serve to make these things dear to our hearts and memories imperishable.

AUTO STRIKE AVERTED.

AN important obstacle to continued progress towards industrial recovery was averted when President Roosevelt prevented a strike by the automobile laborers.

It is estimated that 250,000 men would have been affected by a walk-out in this trade. More than 2,000,000 cars and trucks were produced in the United States and Canada last year, an increase of forty per cent over the 1932 production.

"The automotive industry," says the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, "is the largest purchaser of gasoline, rubber, alloy steel and malleable iron, mohair, upholstery leather, lubricating oil, plate glass, nickel, and lead. The number of carloads of automotive freight shipped over railroads in 1933 was 2,621,000."

The importance of the automobile industry can be seen from the percentage of the materials this industry uses in relation to other businesses: Rubber eighty per cent, plate glass thirty-eight per cent, steel and iron nineteen per cent, lead ten per cent, aluminum twenty-five per cent, nickel twenty-eight per cent, and gasoline eighty-five per cent. When this industry closes its doors it means a reduced activity for a number of other lines.

THE LATE LEGISLATURE.

OPINIONS seem to conflict as to the success of the Legislature adjourned. There is the possibility these opinions might be partisan, however, it may be said there was some beneficial and remedial legislation accomplished.

Of course, Governor Conner did not win as his friends would have liked. His constitutional convention and other cherished measures faded long before adjournment.

It appears at this critical time, emerging from a crisis, if that we are, is not a time for the drastic changes proposed. A constitutional convention would have disturbed the peace of the commonwealth at a time far from propitious but rather dubious. Wise heads were not willing to take the chance. Again the proposed convention was predicted on a basis that would have given the chief executive entirely too much power, appointive, legislative and otherwise. This in a large measure blocked the proposition.

Even though the legislature might have accomplished much, there is a more easy feeling since it has adjourned. There is no telling what it might have done even though it had run its course and exhausted. We are thankful for that.

THE MEMORY OF PINE HILLS.

AUCTION sale Saturday of contents and buildings of Pine Hills, on Bay St. Louis, although the sale was not confirmed, apparently spelled curtains for what was planned and built into an actuality, the most ostentatious and pretentious of hotels for this Mississippi Gulf Coast and one that ranked with the class that dot Florida and California in spots far and few between. Sumptuously furnished the hotel was practically in a class of its own.

Pine Hills was a gigantic enterprise. Planned as an ultra fashionable hotel for the rich from the East and North, it was also evolved with a view of surrounding it with private homes of the wealthy who would journey South to winter. Its location on beautiful Bay St. Louis, frequently compared with the azure waters of the Bay of Naples by travelers who spoke first hand, its location was ideal for native beauty. Nature never conspired more successfully for intriguing beauty. The name implies a setting of pine hills and beach shore where gulf waters passively wash beach strands of sand and key shells—the water scintillating in sunlight and at night reflecting the beauty of the stars.

Pine Hills was the victim of depression. Its originators and promoters planned and build well. This is indisputably proven by the success of the initial seasons. Pine Hills had many guests. The formal opening and banquet scene is unforgettable. The public reception to officials and others as a subsequent function of similar character will never efface from memory. Distinguished guests registered. Pine Hills' history, in comparative sense, was short lived, but its career was worthy of the monument that genius conceived and skill of master man created.

The passing away of this outstanding memory of the period preceding the country's financial collapse is tragic for the reason it is sad. The finality of things conjures from the depth of the heart and mind things that were established and cherished—enshrined as an object of love and veneration. It passed from the ownership of the original company to a succeeding organization formed by bond holders. It was held intact from year to year, hope battling against hope—that by chance something better than dismantling would occur. The future is rich in possibilities. Possibly there was something in the offing.

But the glory of Pine Hills has been spent. Its light faded with the passing glory and nothing remains but its ghost. The phantoms will not down. They will live on in the memory of man who knew Pine Hills.

The stately and magnificent pile of steel and masonry will remain impregnable even to the ravages of time—for it was built to endure. The "Enchanted Castle" will remain, regardless of what happens, with sighing memories in the flood of silver moonlight and where the cadence of low, murmuring music of the waters and sighing of the pines conspire even unto eternity!

GROUP HOSPITALIZATION.

THE problem of bringing proper hospital care within the reach of those who need it has been one difficult to solve. Public institutions have not entirely solved the need. Thousands of people become sick who are financially unable to take care of the expenses connected with a stay in a modern hospital.

One of the most promising schemes being used in some parts of the country is that known as "group hospitalization." It is estimated that 4,500,000 in England belong to such voluntary insurance associations into which each one pays in from $5 to $12 a year. It is in the form of insurance—all pay a comparatively small premium in order that those unlucky enough to become sick will be cared for.

The plan has been endorsed in this country by the American Hospital Association and group hospitalization associations are in operation in a number of cities throughout this country. The usual plan does not include provisions for the cost of service of physicians but in some cases state medical associations are urging not only the plan for hospitalization but for general medical service as well.

WHERE WAS HELIUM

ASTRONOMERS, not satisfied with a universe so vast that the mind of man can hardly conceive the vast distances, now come forward with the news that the celestial universe is larger than they thought it was.

Readers of The Echo seeking mental exercise might take up a casual study of the stars, and see how man has studied them, often with startling revelations.

As a sample, in your own home, see if any member of the family can tell where helium gas was first discovered, and how. Then, ask the crowd, how many stars have been discovered and how far from the earth the closest star happens to be. Answering these two queries might lead somebody to take an interest in other celestial features. Compared to the latest sex thriller the study ought to be gold mine.

Advertisers, who want business, put their advertisements where they will be read.

PINE HILLS GOLF COURSE.

REGARDLESS of what disposition may be made of Pine Hills, whether the sale prices offered will be accepted or rejected, or whether the place will be reorganized and continued as a hotel, the golf course will remain opened and operated, it was stated, as usual.

The hotel property is separate from the golf club and has continued uninterruptedly since its opening. The golf club has been a source of recreation to many along the coast and its present management has made it so to warrant a popular patronage. Pine Hills golf club, opened to the public the year round, is a valuable asset to this community. Far more so than the ordinary mind might consider.

If all the talk about hard work could be changed into real labor the output of mankind would be doubled within three weeks.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

SCHOLARLY REVOLUTIONISTS.

THEY have been all excited, or amused, in Washington lately about Dr. Wirt's charges against the so-called brain trust. Somebody seems to have told the doctor that certain members of that group of intellectuals considered President Roosevelt as the Kerensky of the new deal, and that they were planning to replace him with a Lenin, or a Stalin, or something of that sort. Dr. Wirt appears to have believed the yarn, made some vigorous, but vague charges, and generally got everybody all stirred up, especially the newspaper writers and the congressmen. Speaker Rainey is quoted to the effect that the thing is getting sillier and sillier. It is a simple guess that some eminent gentlemen are trying to play some politics with the affair. It is worth explaining, if you do not know what it is all about.

Dr. Wirt is one of the great educators of the United States. He organized the public schools of Gary, Indiana, the city built by the U. S. Steel corporation, and created a system which gives more and better education to children, and even grown-ups, for less money than, possibly, any other city in the country. With a limited appropriation for buildings, he arranged a platoon system, children taking turns in a classroom, in the manual training shops and at supervised play. The children get eight hours a day in school, but the teachers each work only six hours. There are evening classes for adults. The system is a model.

Kerensky, you may remember, was the man at the head of the Russian government in 1917, after the Czar had been put out. He was a notable talker, an extraordinary talker, a moderate, or middle-of-the-road revolutionist, who was overthrown in his turn by Lenin, Trotsky and the other Bolsheviks. Lenin was a regular blood-and-thunder revolutionist, determined to turn the wheel exactly upside down and downside up. He succeeded in his purpose quite thoroughly. At last reports Kerensky was still talking but Lenin is dead, and his memory is revered by Russians rather more than we revere the memory of Washington, whom he did not at all resemble. Lenin has been succeeded by Stalin.

The weak point in Dr. Wirt's scare is the power he attributes to a few scholarly advisers and administrators in Washington. That little group is quite powerless to cause even a riot. They may have some influence at present because, as presumed experts, they are consulted by the chief executive, their advice sometimes followed, and because they hold certain subordinate positions in the government. They have no power at all. Political power is concentrated in the President, the Congress, the courts, and public opinion. Not one of them is a popular leader. They have no means of putting their opinions, whatever these opinions may be, into effect, except as they are permitted by higher authority. The president can send them all back to their classrooms whenever he wishes, and they would have no means to oppose him. But these men are very intelligent, careful students of the past, and exceptionally well-informed about the present. Their positions and their contacts give them access to information which the newspaper reader does not have. Their opinions are worth more than ordinary consideration, even though they have no power to guide the development which they may believe they can foresee. It may also be assumed that there would be so much ado about a few college professors in subordinate offices, unless some such an opinion, or a fear, were shared by others.

A little common sense about revolutionists may help to clear up the matter. The well-fed, comfortable, busy man is never a revolutionist, and nothing can make him one. He prefers to spend his spare time seeing a ball game or a movie, tinkering with the car or with his garden, or even listening to the radio. He votes his party ticket, if he votes at all, and has no patience with the wind-jammers who try to excite him about his wrongs. He is as conservative as Senator Reed, or Mayor Walmsey.

Put that man out of his job, or even cut his pay while raising your own, give him a grievance that bothers him all the time and you are doing the best possible thing to make a radical, possibly a revolutionist. He is not so smart as the brain trusters, he has no such reputation or social position, but he is more important because he is much more numerous. Ole Olson, up in Minneapolis, with three to five thousand others, blockading the city hall and heaving back tear gas bombs at the police is the man to watch. He is hard to handle, too. He can afford to get shot just as well as you can afford to shoot him. Yet the temptation to shoot him when he forms a mob and begins destroyed property is very strong indeed.

Violent revolutions are not made, or led, by prosperous, respectable citizens of culture and high social position. They are made by dissatisfied and usually by hungry, dissatisfied, who believe that any kind of a change will be an improvement. They acquire leaders, discard them and pick up new ones until they find somebody who suits them, and who can lead. Dr. Wirt is a very great educator, but he is evidently weak in the field of social history.

CONCERNING BILBO.

(Jackson Daily News)

BELIEVE this or not, as you see fit, but it is within the realm of political possibilities.

Theodore G. Bilbo may not make the race for United States Senate this year against Hubert Stephens. He may yet change his mind and seek a third term as Governor.

Bilbo has not yet made his final announcement for Senate—that is to say, he has not promulgated a platform.

Bilbo knows, or ought to know, for he is a very shrewd politician, that he cannot defeat Hubert Stephens.

He would perhaps make a good showing in the party primary, but a good showing falls far short of the required majority.

In a gubernatorial contest "the stormy petrel of Mississippi politics" would be far more formidable.

No use in saying that he couldn't win. Please remember he did win twice before against strong opponents—much stronger than those now in prospects for the 1935 gubernatorial campaign.

In this sordid and selfish game called politics nothing is gained by discounting the strength of a man you don't like, and for whom you do not intend to vote. That's always a serious mistake.

Bilbo had a very strong individual following in his campaign for Congress from the state-at-large in 1932. He might have won if a decision of the United States Supreme Court had not put a kibosh on his ambition. A political crime had been committed and Bilbo, always an opportunist, was quick to take advantage of it.

Derision or denunciation of the former Postmaster-General of the AAA won't hurt him the least bit. He thrives on that sort of stuff, and, so long as there is breath left in his tough and wiry body, he will be a factor in Mississippi politics.

But he can't defeat Hubert Stephens. That's written in the stars.

Bilbo can't defeat Stephens because the latter is well-beloved by the people, wields a commanding influence at Washington, and there is naught in his official or private life to justify criticism.

Therefore, Bilbo's best chance to get back into office is to run for Governor, and back in the inner recesses of his mind that idea is now rambling about.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

(Jackson Clarion-Ledger)

NOW that the curtain has dropped on the legislature, worthy sons of Mississippi are trying to sum it up to ascertain if it had any substance.

Dominated by "selfish interests, petty political jealousies and a desire to destroy rather than construct" were listed by Representative Walter Sillers of Bolivar as contributing causes to the "failure" of the 1934 session.

"Outside of the banking bill, mortgage moratorium and liquor laws, little else worthy of mention was accomplished at this session except to increase the expenditures and debts of the state," said Mr. Sillers. "Instead of giving relief to the people this session has added to their burdens."

Knowing Mr. Sillers' attitude toward Governor Conner it may be necessary to take what he says cum granum salis, for this was not a Conner legislature evidently.

But we are not surprised at the failure of the general assembly when

BLACK- DRAUGHT

For CONSTIPATION

"I am 71 years old and have used Theodor's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Rome, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a purgative when I am bilious, dizzy and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and helps me in many ways." Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

Warm weather foods become so deliciously appetizing when really "cold."

Firm sparkling desserts—crisp fresh salads—beverages that cool on sight in dewy glasses chilled with abundant ice.

Early refreshment preparation—entertaining with freedom from kitchen duties—easy, and

All these things are apart from food preservation, the home essential which requires low temperatures the year around to maintain highest standards of food quality.

ARE RAILROADS PASSING?

(Slidell News)

ARE railroads headed for the discard?

Will this great means of transportation be allowed to die for want of adequate support and patronage?

Railroads have built this nation. They have run their tracks into the farthest corners of the land and have made habitation possible on every foot of soil in America. They have contributed, through taxes to the government to every state, county, city and hamlet and given employment to a greater number of employees than any privately owned enterprise.

They have been entrusted with the responsibility of transporting the mails, bringing to market the harvest of the said and moving the finished products of the manufacturers, and they have never failed this trust.

Railroads have been hampered by interstate and intrastate commissions, who fix their rates—passenger, freight, express and pullman—thus making it impossible for railroads, with their costly rolling equipment, maintenance of rail and roadbed, acquisition of right of way and thousands of employees, to adequately compete with bus lines, whose only equipment consist of a motor vehicle and one employee, virtually unhindered by taxes or commissions.

We need the railroads; they are the foundation upon which every community exists. And we come to realize that, unless they can operate at a profit, they must preface cease to exist, as no business, regardless of its magnitude, can continue to operate at a loss indefinitely.

REVIEW OF LEGISLATURE WORK OF 13 WEEKS; MANY BILLS A R E INTRODUCED

1,505 Bills Introduced—770 in the House, 335 in Senate—
565 Enacted—Some Meritorious, Some Otherwise—
Of Interest to Every Resident of State.

Forty-nine out of every 100 bills introduced in the legislature during the session just ended were written into the statute books, a check of the 1,671 measures passed in the hoppers of the two houses revealed yesterday.

More legislative proposals were submitted to the solons than during any session in the past ten years, even topping the number introduced during the long 1930 meeting.

The review disclosed 684 of the 1,671 bills offered were enacted of the total 593 were offered in the upper chamber, of which 185 became laws, and 1,078 were introduced in the house, 499 being enacted.

The 499 members of the senate averaged 12 bills each during the 13-week session and the 140 representatives authored an average of seven each.

Of the total of bills introduced, 41 per cent passed the two houses and were approved by the governor. Forty-six percent of the house bills and 31 percent of the measures offered in the senate succeeded in running the gauntlet.

During the 1932 session 1,505 bills were introduced, 770 in the house and 535 in the senate. Five hundred and sixty-five were enacted or 37.6 per cent.

During the extended 1930 session 1,391 bills found their way into the hoppers, 437 originating in the upper branch and 954 in the house. Forty-five percent became laws, or a total of 629. However, of the total number of bills enacted during the 1930 meeting 350 were local and private bills and only 279 general legislation.

Governor Connor exercised his veto power 13 times during the 1934 session, approved 684 bills passed by the two houses and allowed 21 bills to remain on his desk after the adjournment to await action at the beginning of the next meeting.

A review of the 684 measures were added to the statute books during the session showed enactment of the following important and semi-important bills:

FEDERAL LAND BANK BONDS SELLING ABOVE PAR, REPORTS SAY

Are Now Tendered Federal Land Bank at New Orleans—Bonds Tax Exempt.

A. C. Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Abe Lincoln national farm loan association of Bay St. Louis, Miss., recently received word from the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Wm. I. Myers, telling him of the ready reception which farmers and their creditors are giving to the bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation which are now being tendered by the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans in place of cash in settlement of farmers' debts.

"These bonds have been selling in the large markets at a little above par, indicating a ready market for them. Just a week after the banks began using bonds instead of cash, the first bonds to be sold on the New York market were purchased at 100-3-4. We anticipated these bonds which bear 3½ per cent interest per annum would sell at par or above at the time we set the interest rate, for Government bonds maturing in 1941, bearing the same rate were selling above par."

Mr. Myers pointed out that those bonds were not only exempt from local, State and Federal taxation with the exception of surtaxes, inheritance and gift taxes, but that they are as readily salable as government securities. He said they are being quoted in the metropolitan papers but if such quotations are not available readily to farmers that they will be given the quotations if they will write to the Federal land bank of their district.

SOUTHERN BELL
Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Recently a telephone subscriber, while paying her bill, gave us the name of a former subscriber and asked us to try and induce her to put her telephone back in. "They are friends of ours," she said, "and we and their other friends miss having them at our social gatherings. When they had a telephone we called them frequently but now we can't. If you telephone people," she said, "can make them realize how anxious their friends are for them to have a telephone. I believe they will. I'm sure they can afford one. In fact, I don't think they can afford not to have a telephone."

Telephone users everywhere are anxious for their friends to have telephones, too. Some people doubtless had their telephones removed without stopping to think about what it would mean to their friends. Now they are finding that in doing without their telephones they have been sacrificing too much in happiness in addition to the resultant inconvenience to both them and their friends. They have learned also that being without telephone service isolates them, narrowing the scope of their social activities. Others have had it brought home to them that the lack of a telephone near at hand in emergencies can easily prove to be expensive and even dangerous life.

It is not surprising that we are so often told that the pleasure, comfort, convenience and protection that a telephone in the home affords far outweighs the small cost of the service. So much so, in fact, that it really doesn't pay to try to get along without a telephone in the home.

Have they will. I'm sure they can afford one. In fact, I don't think they can afford not to have a telephone."

DEATH CALLS REV. H. H. LOWE, PASTOR BAPTIST CHURCH

Head of Colored Church Passed Away Unexpectedly Tuesday Evening At His Home.

Rev. H. H. Lowe, colored, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis, died on Tuesday evening at 6:50 o'clock, at his home in Sycamore street, adjoining the church. He had been ill from time to time and was better, up and about the day before. He spent an unusually good day, ate heartily and commented on how well he felt. However, at the time aforementioned he was seized with a heart attack and suddenly passed away.

He is survived by his wife, Lelia Martin Lowe. One brother, Peter Lowe, a resident of Tunica, Miss., and a number of nieces and nephews. He was a native of Port Gibson, Miss., aged 59 years.

The death of Rev. Lowe removes a well-known figure both from church and everyday community circles. He was a well-known figure about town until a year or two, when jeopardy of his health caused him to slow down his activities.

He was pastor of the First Baptist Church, corner Sycamore and Third streets, well nigh over a period of twenty years. He had built his church into one of permanence and usefulness to his flock. He preached humility and tolerance in all things, patience and obedience, and the bowing at all times to constituted authority.

As a man he enjoyed the respect of the community, always strictly attending to the affairs within the scope of his calling, and members of his church as well as of his race will miss his kindly solicitations, generous attentions and tender ministrations.

Rev. Lowe was quite a friend of education, evincing at all times a deep interest in the success of the schools. He said the church and schools should work hand in hand for the community, they were civilizers and great stabilizers for moral uplift and progress.

During the time Principal G. W. Brown directed the Valena C. Jones city school, Rev. Lowe co-operated actively and wholeheartedly and hardly a commencement program was complete without an address by Rev. Lowe. He was a capable and forceful speaker and enjoyed the confidence of his listeners at all times.

Funeral will take place Sunday from the church, with full public ceremony, attended by dignitaries and representatives of churches from several of the Southern states, particularly Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Interment will be at Cedar Rest Cemetery, Bay St. Louis.
